UNIGIS signed MoU with OSGeo

In this year's meeting, the International Association of UNIGIS partner universities signed a Memorandum of Understanding with the Open Source Geospatial Foundation (OSGeo). This –now official –collaboration with the open source Geo-community is an important milestone that complements our long-standing cooperation with the geospatial industry, including companies like ESRI, Hexagon or Trimble.

Ecological Modelling (ISEM) Conference in Salzburg

A highlight in this year's event-calendar was the International Conference on Ecological Modelling, ISEM 2019, which was hosted by UNIGIS Director of Studies Gudrun Wallentin. Under the motto eco:model:spaces, the conference highlighted the close integration of Geospatial Analysis in application domains like ecology. Thus, it was unexpected, but not surprising to see a spontaneous gathering of delegates with UNIGIS backgrounds at our conference booth.

UNIGIS Zagreb in the media

UNIGIS Zagreb was founded this summer and the promotional activities are already in full speed. Not only did we sponsor and were present on several relevant events in Croatia, but we are active on social media as well as traditional print media. Registration for the first intake of students in March 2020 is currently open!
